Crill Run Over and Seriously Injured.

A little girl about four years of age, daughter of Mrs. McLaren, residing on Walnut-street, near the Hamilton-road, was run over yesterday afternoon by a milk-wagon, and dangerously injured. Her collar bone and several of her ribs were crushed, and she received such internal wounds as render her recovery asternally doubtful.

SEVERE ACCIDENT TO AN AGED WOMAN.—An aged woman, named Mary McManus, while going down a flight of stairs, to which there were no balustrades, at the residence of her daughter on Third-street, east of Butler, yesterday afternoon, accidentally fell a distance of twelve or fifteen feet, striking her head against the pavement and fracturing her skull to such an extent as will undoubtedly prove fatal.

PRIZE FIGHT AT THE BUCKEYE-HOUSE.—A prize fight took place, yesterday afternoon, at the Buckeye-house, between Patsy Cochrane, seconded by Mooney and Lane, and Chris. Weichroff, seconded by Sarver and Martin, with William T. Swift as referee, and John A. Cochrane and Mike Kennedy as umpires.

Eleven rounds were fought in twenty-three minutes, Weichroff having the first blood, the first knock-down, and the fight in his favor. Both the parties were considerably punished, considering the length of time the fight lasted, but neither was materially injured.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY COMMISSIONRES.—At their regular diurnal session yesterday morning, the County Commissioners passed orders amounting in the aggregate to $62; of which $57 were paid to M. Werk &

the Grand Jury visited Carthage; $20 to Hubbell & Coney for cement for reservoir at Long View Lunatic Asylum, and $5 to the Sheriff for witness from House of Refuge.

The bids for painting and plastering the new Lunatic Asylum, repairs made necessary by the recent tornado, were opened and referred to Isaiah Rogers, the County Architect. No other business of importance was transacted.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT -A SERVANT GE

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT — A SERVANT GIBL BURNED ALMOST TO DEATH.—A servant girl named Bertha Meitzler, residing in the family of Jacob Netter, at No. 99 West Eighth-street, was horribly burned, last evening, between six and seven o'clock. She was standing near the fire, attending to some of her duties, when her clothing caught, and, in a moment, she was enveloped in fames.

Her screams brought some of the neighbors to her assistance, who, with some difficulty succeeded in extinguishing the fire, but not until her body had been burned and blistered in the most shocking manner. Medical assistance was called in and she was rendered as comfortable as the circumstances would permit but her injuries are such as to render her ultimate recovery almost hopeless.

regular semi-weekly session of the Board of City Improvements, yesterday morning, the scaled proposals offered were opened, and, on motion of Mr. Stagge, contracts were awarded as follows: To Baur & Horn, to repair the stone abut-ments of the Main-street bridge, at $3 17 per perch.

Quncks and Qunckery-The Recent Sud-den Deaths at the Commercial Hospital

Quacks and Quackery—The Recent Suddes Deaths at the Commercial Hospital.

Within the past week two deaths have taken place at the Commercial Hospital, both of which, if the evidence before the Coroner's Jury may be depended on, were produced by the malpractice of medicine.

The first was the case of William Beynolds, who was taken to the Hammondstreet Station-house, with a predisposition to congestion of the brain. While in this condition morphine and landanum were administered, which, as might have been expected, increased the difficulty instead of relieving the patient. He was therefore removed to the Hospital, where he died in a few hours. An inquest was held, and a verdict rendered of death from apoplaxy, superinduced by intoxication; but no word was said in regard to the treatment he had received.

The second was that of a young man named Chas. Romminger, who complained to a physician of illness, and described his symptoms. It was plain that he was on the verge of delivium tremens; the physician sent him to a barber, who took from him about twelve ounces of blood; the patient was conveyed to the hospital, where he died in about an hour. Verdict—death from intemperance.

It is plain that narcotics are not proper

It is plain that narcotics are not proper medicines for persons suffering from congestion of the brain: every one knows that they produce it. The conclusion, therefore, is inevitable that the first physician did not know what he was about. It is none the less certain that depletion of the human system, whether it be effected by emetics, enemas, or blood-letting, is the worst possible treatment for persons whose excesses have caused delivium tremens, consequently, the second physician knew quite as little of his business as the first.

the first.

By mere accident these cases came to the knowledge of the Coroner, and his investigation developed the facts and made them public. How many similar deaths occur every day in the city no one can tell; but these suggest innumerable assassinations, from which it appears no barrier of law can protect seciety.

from which it appears no barrier of law can protect society.

A few months ago the community was startled by the case of a woman, who, about to become a mother, called in a couple of pseudo-physicians, that in their efforts to relieve her of the new life which was struggling for entrance into the world, by the bungling use of instruments, actually cut the uterus in such a manner that the child passed into the cavity of the abdomen instead of being born, and both the lives were thereby destroyed.

Instances of this kind are not isolated because they are not made public. If a citizen cause they are not made public. If a citizen be stabled to the heart in one of our public thoroughfares while attending a couple of ladies from a concert, the act causes a kind ladies from a concert, the act causes a kind of social earthquake; rewards are offered for the arrest and conviction of the assassin, and prayers are offered in the churches to the effect thathe may be brought to justice. When one of these quacks, however, enters the household under the pretense of being able to cure, or at least relieve, a person who is suffering from one of the many "ills that flesh is heir to," and by some vile decoction or compound of poisons, or by opening one or two veins, or by plunging a knife into some vital portion of the body, succeeds in sending his patient, by the most direct and speedy route, into eternity, he simply sends in a bill for services, and from such easily-earned wages grows rich, and thereby respected.

Society has fallen into the error of supposing that it is protected by its laws. Therefore, legislators are elected who go to the Capital and pile statute on statute, and code on code, until enough are printed to wall in Capital and pile statute on statute, and cool concode, until enough are printed to wall in the universe, and still we are not protected. Every week some one is murdered in the street; every hour we doubt not some one is poisoned to death by quacks.

Investigation seems to be wholly useless. They only develop the fact; but what is this provided a south unless some practical good.

knowledge worth, unless some practical good be derived from it? Crime is committed; laws are made to punish it; no one is pun-ished; the law is not executed, and society

Railroad Meeting at Madisonville—Letter from the President of the Dayton and Cincinnati Railway Company.

The following letter has been published in circular form and distributed to the per-ons to whom it is addressed.

CINCUNNATI, MAY 28, 1860. To the Land Owners Along the Surveyed Railroad Line Between Localand and Cincinnati.

Retreem Loreland and Cincinnett.

Gentlement: Within the past few weeks I have been restored to the Presidency of this Company, a position which I occupied at the commencement of this work, and have employed the interval in gaining a knowledge of its precent fluantial condition. I find it without means, and the discredit under which it labors, makes me almost despair of compiring it to Dayton, or of any availing section in that direction. In this posture of sflairs, I have directed my attention toward Loreland, in the hope, that with the sid of the Marietta Road, and liberal contributions from the land owners along the line, together with some aid from the citizens of Cincinnati, we may be enabled to revive the work.

That the completion of the road will enhance the value of the land arming community are not generally miner capitalists. You can not subscribe to its account of your land, say half, or allow this company to sail it at what may be considered its present cash value; the value to be paid you in mouse, before any conveyance passes, and receive the remainder to be enhanced by the improvements, and thus contribute to the completion of this tunned and road doubles the value of the land that adjoins it, the half of your present possessions will be worth as much as the value of the land that adjoins it, the half of your present possessions will be worth as much as the whole is now, you in the manning receiving the present value of the portion your part with.

I submit these hints, in the hope that you will see your interests in giving them your consideration.

Hespectrally.

Sax H. H. GODIR:

The suggestions contained in the above

The suggestions contained in the above

The suggestions contained in the above letter gave rise to a large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens living along and near the line surveyed by the Marietta Company for a railroad between Cincinati and Loveland, that passes through the town of Madisonville, in this county, which was held in that village on Thursday evening, the 14th inst., over which the Hon. Judge M. Markland, of Pleasant Ridge, presided, and Lucius Darling acted as Secretary.

The Chairman stated the object of the meeting, which was to consider the present condition of the tunnel through the hill between the north end of Deercreek Valley and Ross's Run, commenced some years since by the Dayton and Cincinnati Railroad Company, and to inaugurate measures for the completion of that great enterprise. Although a work of acknowledged importance to many interests—necessary to the city as a pass-way work of acknowledged importance to many interests—necessary to the city as a pass-way for a vast and varied commerce—necessary to several railroads as an entrance into the city, that they may contest independently for business—necessary to the large proprietary interest immediately beyond the tunnel, embracing many hundred acres of beautiful table land, as a means of cheap, frequent and rapid transit—he remarked that either of these interests might with profit assure its completion, and yet it languishes, and has for years lain dilapidating, its construction suspended for lack of means.

Dr. J. A. Black, after remarking that if the country would take the initiative, and render what aid was in its power, the city and the railroads might then come to the rescue, offered the following resolutions:

Resolved, That this meeting appreciates, the bene-

LAW REPORT.

SUPERIOR COURT.

HANNAH STEWART VS. CHAS. WARREN—
THE VERDICT.—Judge Storer charged the Jury in this case:

So far as there was any demand by this plaintiff that grew out of this unworthy, immoral and illegal connection of the parties, it can not be sustained. No part or parcel of the claim, whether by the plaintiff or the defendant, ought to be taken heed of,
except so far as the money absolutely loaned.
The boarding, the expenses for traveling, the musical education, it seemed to the Court, were clearly prohibited.

As to the items of the accounts, the jury might be relieved to the extent of the admissions by the defendant, for he admits that he received from hee $1,158, but claims, at the same time, that he has paid it. It is insisted sions by the defendant, for he admits that he received from her $1,155, but claims, at the same time, that he has paid it. It is insisted by her that he did not. He insists that he kept an accurate account; she kept no account. It is very evident that she must have had a strong affection for this man, and that she relied on him. Nevertheless, when one selects an agent, unless there is proof that that agent has not fulfilled his duty, they were not permitted to suspect his integrity, more especially when the existence of his delinquency is dependant solely upon the evidence of the principal.

Such an exhibition of human depravity had never been developed in this Court-house. The moral sense of the community had been outraged. The Jury, notwithstanding, must decide whether there is any claim. If there is, it must be allowed. If not, it must be rejected. They should not give any thing from sympathy, because there should be none in the case, where persons of mature age, with families growing up, cohabit together against the laws of the land.

The Jury retired at about half-past ten clock, and at half-past three o'clock returned with a verdict for plaintiff, for $1,158 20.

Notice of motion for a new trial.

THE HIDE OF A HIPPOPOTAMUS.—Henry Cochen 192. John Robinson. An action before Judge Storer on a contract for the alleged sale of a hippopotamus skin, staffed and prepared for exhibition.

Two immense "posters" giving a colored representation of "The only Hippopotamus in America," were spread out before the Jury.

Jury.

The defendant denied the contract, and, by the course of his defense, also raised the issue whether the skin was a genuine or a sim-whether the skin was a genuine or a simulated one.

Among the experts called to testify as to whether the skin was genuine, was Alf. Burnett, who had seen a live hippopotamus at the Zoological Gardens, London. Mr. B. was of opinion that the skin was genuine.

Joseph Preston, a gentleman connected with the show business, was examined. He said the skin looked to him like an elephant.
He had never seen a hippopotamus. Mr. P. let out some of the secrets of the show profession, by giving some idea of the manner in which mermaids and other monstrosities are produced.

This case was argued by Alex. Todd for the plaintiff, and by L. French and Judge Tilden for defendant.

COMMON PLEAS.

COMMON PLEAS.

Divorces Tried by Judge Carres.—Mary A. Black vs. Robert Black. The plaintiff was apparently about seventeen years of age, and had been married some two or three years. Adultery was the charge she alleged in her petition, and the allegation having been sustained by proof, the Court granted a decree. Jane Wiggins vs. Josiah Wiggins. A decree was granted on the ground of extreme cruelty.

cree was granted on the ground of extreme cruelty.

Ward & Ramsey for petitioner.

David Weaver as Mary Weaver. The petitioner claimed a divorce on the ground of fraud in the marriage contract. He alleged that the respondent was the mother of a child before the marriage, and that she had concealed this fact from him.

Witnesses were examined who testified that respondent did not deny the charge, but she claimed, as a set-off, that the parties were about even, as her husband had a lame leg. The Court has not yet passed upon the case.

Caiminal Side.—Henry Dehr and David Ross were convicted before Judge Mallon of an assault on Michael Underride.

James Martin pleaded guilty of burglary James Martin pleaded guilty of burglary at the store of Lewis Wald, an Pearl-street. Kerr for the State.

Another Elopement From Kentucky.— Another young couple, Miss Mary Jane Cunningham and Robert H. Armstrong, eloped, a day or two ago, from Moreer County, Kentucky, and repaired to the Spencer House, to wed and pass a portion of their honeymon.

The bride is pretty and accomplished, and the bridegroom cultivated and rich; but, for some reason or other, though the twain loved each other desperately, the parents of Mary refused their consent to the union.

She was eighteen; but in her native State, stern law required she should be one and twenty, ere she became her own mistress; so, she concluded she would visit Ohio where less years were demanded; and she did.

Here no obstacle opposed, and two hearts were "made by holy marriage one" in the briefest time possible. The twain seemed entirely self-absorbed by their happiness, and as careless of frowning mammas and blustering papas as if they had been born without parents. We wish them continued joy through life, and that sweetest breezes may ever fill their purple sails set toward the shore of beauty and of love! Mary refused their consent to the union

NEWPORT NEWS.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY. — Two men attempted to enter the house of one named John Ferguson, who resides in Pendleton County, about thirty miles from this place, on Tuesday night last, evidently with a view of obtaining about $300, which the owner was known to have in his possession. The burglars, however, were evidently without much experience, and by the noise they made awoke the inmates of the house. Ferguson seized a rifle, but before he could bring it to bear upon the villains, they escaped. They are believed to be two young men who reside in the neighborhood, and who have for some time been suspected of dealing in counterfeit money. Both of them were found to be absent the next morning, and had not been heard from up to Thursday night, when our informant left the neighborhood. Their flight is not calculated to allay the suspicion aroused against them.

The Perils of the Sea—Two Thousand Sailors Lost is Thirty Yrars.—The Gloucester (Mass.) Advertiser says that in all probability the schooner Pleasant Boy, Capt. Gage, with all her crew, have been lost on the Georges. The last seen of her was on the 18th of April, on Caslie's Ledge. The Advertiser says: "This is the fifth vessel that has been lost, with all their crews, in the Georges fishery since January. Within some thirty years, over thirty vessels and two thousand men have been lost in this hazardous branch of the fishing business. Nothing definite can ever be known of the fate of mariners who sail from port for the Georges, never to return. Although hopes of their asfety are always entertained until hope can hold out no longer, it is remarkable that no vessel or crew ever returned after having been absent for five or six weeks."

It is estimated that over ten thousand bar-rels of oil are now ready for market in the oil region of north-western Pennsylvania.

Wednesday's New Orleans Delts observes:
If possible, it seemed to be duller yesterday on the seven than on Monday, and the weather did not relax in beat. Arrivals as well as departures were few. The Edward J. Gay came down from St. Lonie with a fair trip. She returns on Friday. The Gay met the Quitman, on Sunday morning; forty miles above Vicksburg, going like a race-horse. We have no doubt that if the Quitman meets with no extra detention, she will be at Portland in twe days. On the return of the Quitman, she will temporarily take the place of the Vicksburg in the Bend trade.

Alleged Outrage upon a New Yorker in Virginia-His Imprisonment for Two Months for Speaking with a Negre.

Mr. Charles H. Watson, of Rochester, N. Y., informs the New York Tribune that he is by profession a machinist and locomotive engineer; that he has been employed on the Orange and Alexandria, Railroad; and that on the 9th of April he was imprisoned in the jail at Alexandria, Virginia, under the following circumstances: On the day named he was standing upon the wharf, in conversation with a negro. Walter Penn, the jailer of Alexandria, asked him what he was doing; to this question he answered, very naturally, that it was none of his business, that he proposed to talk with whom he pleased: that he did not please to hold any conversation with the jailer, and that any further remarks would be out of place. The jailer desired to be informed if Mr. Watson knew whom he was addressing, Mr. Watson stated that he neither knew nor cared. Thereupon the jailer retired for a brief interval; than returned with a reenforcement of three people. The four took Mr. Watson into custody, and conveyed him to the office of the Mayor, Mr. Taylor. The charge preferred against him was, that he was a suspicious character, and that he had spoken with a negro. The examination was further continued thus:

The Mayor—Have you security to offer to the amount of $550?

COMMERCIAL AFFAIRS.

Monetary matters were tolerably active terday, but they underwent no material altera-

jessirday, but they underwest no material alteration from Wednesday; the demand for and supply of Money being about the same as then, although some Bankers reported the inquiry heavier, with increased offers of Paper at the Discount-houses.

The applications for Loam keep up very well for the season, and as yet there is very little idle capital in the hands of operators, who have as many opportunities as they desire to invest their means.

Eastern Exchange remains and hands a buying and is previous selling; insilers refused to the year of the property of the property

Wednesday's New York Stock market is thus noticed in Thursday's Tribune: tions in Thursday's Tribune:

The Stock market to-day exhibited much the same features as yesterday—heaviness and dullness. With all the elements of improvement existing in the business of the country, and with the promise of a very favorable harrest impending, there is an unwillingness on the part of street and outside operators to essential the movement for the rise, which was inaugurated in the Spring, not easily accounted for. The short interest are the principal buyers, and this interest in now much smaller than it was. Meanwhile, the bears omniste the bulls in inactivity, and the result is a sort of inauncial dry-rot, under which prices gradually settle down.

Thursday's New York Times observes, in regard to Wednesday last:

Thursday's New York Times observes, in regard to Wednesday last:

In the market for Monday, the business of the day outside of Bank is generally reported at the cheapest terms of last week. Some single-name Paper, of choice credit, has been taken at 5 per cent., do days to months, and longer dates 5½ for indorsements, and 5 per cent. for single names. On demand loan, the rates on stock collateral are 4½55 per cent., with occasional exceptions at per cent. on Pederal so-carrity. The Bill Brokers get Money, subject to short notice, at 5 per cent. on pledge of Bills Beceivable.

The foreign Exchadges, after closing firm yesterday for the Boston malt, reopen, in anticipation of the Hamburg steamer on Friday, and the Liverpool and Havre steamers on Saturday—the City of Baltimers and Youterbil—at the same rates. Reseas. A. Belmont & Co. continue to draw on London, the demand concentrating mainty on that point, at 10th per cent. on the point of the same concentrating mainty on that point, at 10th per cent. on the Rockers. On that point, at 10th seenth to the Brokers. On the london, the canded demand or Exchange the most of land being in favor of London, inconsequence of the higher employment for Money in the English market, nearly all the heavy regulaters were thus quoted in New York on Wednesday:

Capital is in abundant supply, and desirable bills are rather scarce. Really prime Paper can be placed at 5 per cent, and most of the first-class bills are readily negotiated at 55666 per cent; scurity is, however, closely looked to, and Paper that does not afford this, is placed with some difficulty at from 5 to 12 per cent. The Boston Post, in its weekly review of Finan says:

We are probably at the zenith of duliness in trade and Money, or if not, then, fast approaching it, as it would seem. Money goes a-begging at 5 per cent. of irst-class Paper or Stocks, and some of the Banks have been leading on call at 4% per cent, for consid-erable sums. For the future, the prospect is favorable for activity and a large and healthy business.

PROVISIONS—The firmness in the market, heretofore notised, increases, holders' views being rather higher to-day than resterday, with an increased desire to buy. Owing to this firmness of holders, there was not much done, but the tendency improved: $18 was offered and refused for first class brands, mass Pork. Bacon and $18de could have been said to a considerable extent at 10c., and bulk Meats at 7690c, but they were all held high; $2c, was offered by bulk Sides and refused, and 7% for bulk Shoulders at Indianapolis, packed. We also heard of 113 being offered and refused for 600 therees prime lard; the sales are confined to 60 holes Bacon Sides at 10c. and 60.80 bit. Unit bulk Sides at 8c.
